BULLETIN TO BE SENT OUT TO ASSESSORS

At the meeting of the state tax commission at Carson City, last Monday, Secretary Fletcher was authorized to issue an annual bulletin to the county assessors regarding the assessed valuations of various classes of lands, livestock and the net proceeds of mines.

The assessors will be instructed to place arbitrary assessed valuations on the net proceeds of all operating mines where the owners have refused or neglected to file the reports required by law within ninety days after the expiration of the quarter covered by the report.

SHEPHERD ARE FACING VERY SERIOUS LOSSES

J. R. Tognoni, a prominent rancher and farmer of the Duckwater country, in Nye county, was an Ely visitor during the week. Mr. Tognoni states that the continual dry weather and lack of snow has produced a very serious situation for the transient sheepmen who are now wintering, their herds in are now about 150,000 head of transient sheep in that section, and as no snow has fallen up to the present time, it has been necessary to confine the range of sheep to within a few miles of watering places, and as a consequence the ranges have been practically denuded of all feed, and the sheep are now in poor condition.

Unless snow comes soon the losses in that section will be very heavy—

A Gazette special from Elko says C. B. Henderson, Nevada's new U. S. senator, left yesterday morning for Washington and expects to get there in time to vote for the proposed constitutional amendment granting suffrage to women. The senator said:
"I hope to reach Washington and take my seat in the United States senate in time to cast my vote in favor of the proposed constitutional amendment for equal suffrage. I am heartily in favor of it. On the other vital issues now before congress I wish to further acquaint myself before making any definite statement as to my views."

Pioche Woman Figures In Tragedy

The Evening Telegram of Salt Lake in yesterday's issue, contains an account of a tragedy in which one of the principals, is said to be the woman, who left Pioche several weeks ago after a sensational episode. The Salt Lake paper says:

"Slowly dying from the effects of three wounds, inflicted with a butcher knife, Mrs. Concheta Pantaloni, aged 35, a mother of three small children, is lying upon a cot in the emergency hospital.

Alfonsa Nevenly, aged 38, her alleged assailant, is locked up in the city jail, refusing to comment upon the mysterious stabbing.

Police were called to 254 West South Temple street at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon after the woman, bleeding and screaming, had run the house and collapsed on the side walk.

"Nevenly was found in the house.
He offered no resistance, but will not deny or confirm the charge that he stabbed the woman.

"The landlady at the place where the cutting occurred says the woman came to the house about three weeks ago. She had been working and her children were left at the day nursery.
"She was busy with her duties when the woman was stabbed and is unable to furnish the police any information as to details.

"With the woman unconscious and at the point of death, and the man sullen, the police are at a loss to know what was the cause of the affair."

MAKE THEM EARN THEIR KEEP

Tonopah Times:—The idea of a man resting in jail during these cold days when he can make himself useful should not for one moment be tolerated. At an extra expense of 50 cents a day we can have needed repairs made on the roads of the county and streets of the town. As the matter once was a prisoner only received two meals a day, while if his ornamental aspect is removed he is given an additional meal at a cost of 50 cents.

Prefers Chamberlain's

"In the course of a conversation with Chamberlain's Medicine Co's representative today, we had occasion to discuss in a general way the merits of their different preparations.
At his suggestion I take pleasure in expressing my estimation of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I have a family of six children and have used this remedy in my home for years.
I consider it the only cough remedy on the market, as I have tried nearly all kinds."—Earl C. Ross, Publisher Hampton County Republican-News.

BRITISH VESSELS WORK FOR ALLIES

Merchant Marine Is First Line of Naval Defense in This War.

ARE FEEDING MANY LANDS

English Freighters Fight U-Boats While Neutral Craft Ply to Safe Zones—Half Tonnage Working for France Sent by England.

London.—An analysis of the present status of Great Britain's merchant fleet as affected by the war will indicate more clearly than any statement heretofore issued the extent to which the merchant marine has been absorbed into national service under the immediate control of the government.

There is no more emphatic proof of the measure in which England has placed her resources at the disposal of the war cause than this analysis of the merchant fleet's disposition. British ships are working for France, for Italy, for the unfortunate neutral states that would be threatened with starvation if the allies did not help to keep them alive. Troops, munitions, equipment, food supplies have been brought from all quarters of the world in British ships, not exclusively for British consumption, but for all of Britain's allies and for neutrals. Without the British merchant marine the world's international commerce would be almost at a standstill.

A famous authority on shipping and naval affairs recently pointed out that the merchant marine has become the first line of naval defense in this war; and it is literally true. A majority of merchant ships are now armed, and therefore take the same chances as warships. They are attacked by the enemy on sight and they fight the enemy on sight.

Keep Out of Danger.

Neutral vessels have sought the less dangerous zones of operation and ply their trade in waters far from the German submarine bases, where they may reasonably be certain to remain unmolested. To the British merchant fleet is left the uncomfortable duty of serving in those waters where submarines are thickest, where mines are strewn, where the Germans show the least concern for humanity, where every hour and every mile represents the serious chance of death and destruction.

The French ministry of mercantile marine has issued a statement which sets forth the condition of the French merchant fleet. It is stated that the French merchant marine amounts to $1,167,000 tons, of which 2,100,000 tons has been loaned to France by Great Britain. Thus it appears that half the tonnage working for France is furnished by Great Britain. This is particularly interesting in view of the well-known fact that French shipping has been dealt with rather tenderly by the German submarines.

The greatest of French shipping corporations has been particularly fortunate in this regard, and a curious explanation of the fact is current in both France and England. It is that this corporation represents a large investment by one of the most powerful and influential religious orders of the Roman Catholic, and that the Germans have made it a policy not unnecessarily to give offense in this quarter. Secondly, it is a matter of frequent note that certain French ships are always permitted to escape, while other vessels in the same waters are invariably attacked.

Almost Cut Off.

France is now almost as completely cut off from the privilege of commerce with her neighbors by land as is Great Britain. To put it in the reverse, she is almost as dependable on shipping as England. Before the war, according to the French ministry of marine, France imported by land 18,000,000 tons annually, while last year her imports by land amounted to only 1-1,000,000. Inasmuch as the total of imports in 1916 was 44,000,000 tons, the proportion received by land is very small indeed. Inasmuch as France is at present much less capable of living within itself than is England, by reason of the necessity particularly to import metals and coal, it may fairly be said that France is even more dependent upon maintaining her touch with the sea than is England.

The French government is co-operating with England in every possible way to increase the production of new tonnage; but France's contribution must necessarily be small compared to those of England and the United States.

The French minister of marine said that Great Britain would shortly have to recall a part of the 700 vessels which she had lent to France. British needs are increasing rapidly, and no vessel will be recalled from the service of an ally unless it is agreed between the two countries that it is more necessary to England than to the ally.

The British nation before the war was importing 38,000,000 tons of goods a year, which fell to 43,000,000 tons in 1916 and will be considerably further reduced this year. Before the war foodstuffs represented less than 25 per cent of the imports; in 1916 two-thirds of all imports consisted of foodstuffs, munitions of war and the manufacture of war supplies.

CLUB FOR ARMY OFFICERS

Lord Leconfield's House in London Beicans.

London.—Officers of the American forces on leave in London or passing through will soon have a regular American club where they can while away their spare time. Lord Leconfield has given up his palatial home in Cheshterfield gardens and a committee of the Pilgrims are busy transforming it into one of the coziest clubs in the city. It will be at the disposal of the American officers within a few weeks.
